

Life Is a Hurdle!

With each new day we meet some new obstacle. Sometimes it is slight; sometimes it is great.

These obstacles are hurdles in the race of life. How we meet them depends upon our ability, our training, and often our financial position.

The men and women who live within their means, who lay aside a definite amount each month as a reserve fund, have little difficulty in meeting financial obstacles when they arise.

Prepare for the hurdles of life! A Savings Account will help you.

HE'S MAKING GOOD
Benjamin Cohen, An Honor
Man At Naval Training
Station

Benjamin Cohen, apprentice seaman, U. S. Navy, has won the distinction of being the honor man of the 21st Company of recruits, at the Naval Training station, at Newport, R. I.
Mr. Cohen was born in Rockland, later moving to Boston, where he attended the English High School from which school he is now graduate.
He enlisted in the Navy recruiting station in Boston, Jan. 2, 1929. He has passed the test for the Hospital Corps Training School, and expects to go there upon the completion of his leave period. This school of the Navy is located at Portsmouth, Virginia.

While his company was being formed, Mr. Cohen was appointed apprentice chief petty officer. He performed his duties in a highly satisfactory manner and carried himself in a military style. This young man has done well in the Navy, so far, and through his own efforts should go up the ladder of success, which is open to all the young men who desire to go ahead. The Navy Recruiting Station in Bangor will gladly furnish any young men with information concerning the naval service.

THE LIONS CLUB
Hears About State Affairs
and a Reliable Local Industry

"Major matters before the Legislature" was the title of an interesting address delivered to the Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting, the speaker being Senator Zelma M. Dwinall of Camden. Mr. Dwinall briefly reviewed the history of the highway investigation, and discussed the bond issue.
Arrangements were made to attend
the port bridge and the Maine development appropriation. His hearers were given first-hand information relating to the winter's activities at the Capitol.

A new feature of the club's weekly program is the selection of a member to present a two minute talk on "One of the good things about Rockland."
To Albert Winslow fell the honor this week and he responded with a splendid paper on "The Livingstone Manufacturing Company." Much information not generally known to the public was incorporated in Mr. Winslow's article and the generous applause which greeted its presentation indicated that the members of the Lions Club have a warm regard for this one of Rockland's finest industries.

Arrangements were made to attend
the charter night of the new Richmond club which will be held next Monday. Eighteen Rockland members, and ladies, will make up the local delegation which is to assemble at the State Capitol at Augusta at 5.30 in the afternoon, when the various cars will proceed in a body to the Kennebec town.

Four new members were admitted to membership. The visitors were Walter Morse of the Portland club,
Frank A. Maxcy, George L. St. Clair and Everett L. Spear of this city.

UNION'S WELCOME
Is Heartily Extended To New Pastor and His Wife

Over 100 citizens of Union gathered at the Methodist church Tuesday evening to welcome their new pastor, Rev. J. R. Howse and his wife.
The reception rooms had been made unusually attractive and homelike with rugs and easy chairs and the small evergreen trees, potted plants and cut flowers, which were used for decorations made a beautiful background for the occasion.
Dr. H. H. Plummer was master of ceremonies and this program was carried out:

Piano duet, Mrs. Ethel Creighton,
Mrs. Inez Cameron; prayer, Rev. C.
H. B. Seligman; welcome, Herbert L.
Grinnell; vocal duet, Herbert Mank and John Howard; vocal solo, Mrs.
Louie Carroll; remarks, Dr. H. H.
Plummer; male quartet, Herbert Messer, Alvah Ames, Herbert Mank
and John Howard; remarks, Dist.
Supt. Rev. A. I. Oliver; vocal duet,
Mrs. Agnes Creighton and Mrs. Leah Esaney; remarks, Rev. J. R. Howse;
"Blest Be The Tie" congregation.

One of the most pleasing events of the evening was the presentation of a large bunch of snapdragons to Mrs.
Howse. The flowers were a gift from the ladies of the community who have already found a place in their hearts for this new friend.

In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Plummer, Dist. Supt. Rev. A.
I. Oliver and Mrs. J. R. Howse, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Grinnell.
After the reception a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

It was especially pleasing to have Dist. Supt. Oliver present. This was his first official visit in this capacity and all were much impressed by his spirit of helpfulness and sincerity.

Rev. and Mrs. Howse have spent the past three years in Madison, Me.
Union feels fortunate in having them in the community and is looking forward to the church year under their leadership.

Florida and California people will approve the thirty-month calendar, providing the extra month is added to their winter season.—Clermont (Fla.)

NEW PASTOR COMES
Rev. L. Tucker Gibson Takes the Littlefield Memorial Church For Summer

L. Tucker Gibson of Virginia opened his summer pastorate at Littlefield Memorial church last Sunday. Mr. Gibson is not a stranger

Rev. L. Tucker Gibson

here, as he ably assisted the church last May in a special series of services and made a host of friends. The church feels extremely fortunate in securing the services of this young man for the summer months.

Mr. Gibson has had much experience in Mission work in hardest sections of Philadelphia; also in B.Y.P.U.
work. Early in June last year, Rev.
William Fleischer, Baptist State missionary went with Mr. Gibson to East Winslow—a little rural community where for several years no continuous program had been carried on. A boarding place was secured and Mr. Gibson was left to sink or swim as might be the case. He preferred to swim and went to work at once. There were nine at the first preaching service and Sept. 2 there were 98 at the service. The largest attendance was on Aug. 12 when 137 attended the preaching service. A vacation school was conducted with marked success during August and a ladies' aid was organized with good membership. The collection increased from $113 June 17 to $269 Sept. 5.

Mr. Gibson has a pleasing personality, is a conscientious christian and an interesting speaker. The following is his personal message:

"I was born in Virginia and accepted Christ at the age of 10 during special services in a country church near Charlottesville, Va. The call to full service came during my last years in the Miller Manual Labor School, located near Crozet, Va. The call was rejected until an automobile accident placed me where man's help was of no more value. Then I said,
'Lord, if you will raise me up I will go and carry Thy Message.' The Lord agreed and restored me to health, and has led me through two years' preparation in The Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

The opportunity for service has opened here in Rockland and my aim is to help souls find peace in Christ and to be of service in any other way possible."

The announcements of the Littlefield Memorial church will be found in the church column.

It puts great cheer into the Educational Club hearts as they launched last evening their final drive for 1,000 members, with Mrs. Effie Lawrence as hostess and also as competent general chairman, to receive the news that Mrs. Rich has already received $1 for the membership of their latest speaker, Mrs. Myra P. McLean of Augusta with her cordial good wishes for the grand success of the drive, as she knows of no club in Maine doing finer or more commendable work.
Thompson again puts it over this city in loyalty toward Educational Club growth, maintenance of attendance, and devotion to the more serious aims of the Club, to say nothing of one member, Mrs. Gertrude Oliver who was 100 per cent in attendance; and another, Mrs. Lilla Williams, who this year won the only prize awarded for club gains. However, Rockland does at last show symptoms of keeping up with Lizzie in the new drive.

A HAPPY TIME
For Those Who Attend the Mothers' and Daughters'
Banquet

The Mothers' and Daughters banquet takes place in the Universalist vestry next Wednesday evening
under the auspices of the W.C.T.U.
Don't stay away because you have no daughter—borrow your neighbor's girl. Go as a mother, or go as a daughter, but anyway go, and enjoy the big get-together of Rockland women folk. A good supper, a jolly community program and a fine address by one of America's most brilliant speakers, Charlotte Frazier Schneider. Tickets are in good demand, and you should get yours early as the number is limited and they must positively be spoken for in advance as none will be sold at the door.
The supper menu will consist of "Musa-lina," mashed potatoes, creamed green peas, salad, hot rolls, cake, coffee (milk for the children).
The tickets are 50 cents and may be obtained from Chisholm's Spa, Mrs.
Hara Brewster (Tel. 48-W) and Mrs.
Clara Emery (Tel. 421-M) and the time is 6 o'clock.

Following is the program for the
after-supper exercises:

Singing by assembly, Mrs. Copping leader, and Mrs. Robert Magune, pianist.

Hara Brewster, and introduction of the toast mistress, Mrs. Clara Emery-son of the Community." Miss Lucy Rhodes.

ald; solo, Miss Faith Ulmer; A Question,
Mrs. (Dr.) H. V. Tweedie; The Answer,

Gertrude Parker; address, "Two Visions," Charlotte Frazier Schneider.

The committee on decorations comprises Mrs. Alden Ulmer, Miss Faith Ulmer, Mrs. William Brown and Mrs.
H. Dunton.

Mrs. C. A. Garrison, president of the American Legion Auxiliary had this to say about Mrs. Schneider, who delivers the address Wednesday night:

"The American Legion, and Auxiliary of Frank Luke Post held a mass meeting in May, having for our objective the subject of Americanism.
We were very fortunate to have with us on this occasion, Miss Fraser who demonstrated in her way of presenting the subject that she thoroughly understands the subject matter and knows how to present it forcefully.
Her impressive and enthusiastic held our mixed audience spell-bound to the end. Without doubt she is one of the most thorough and forceful speakers on Americanism in America today."

Colby lost its first game of the State series Wednesday when Bow-doin came from behind and took the Waterville collegians into camp by a score of 6 to 4. Local interest in the State series is considerably heightened by the fact that a Rockland boy, Windell Thornton, is playing leftfield for Colby. In the Bow-doin game he made two of Colby's seven hits.

Rockland High is playing Morse
High of Bath at Community Park this afternoon, greatly encouraged by its victory over Cony High. Fans who appreciate the spunk being shown by Coach Watton's "rookies" should be in the grandstand and bleachers today pulling for a Rockland victory.

Today's scheduled game in the Knox and Lincoln League is: Thomaston High at Vinalhaven. Next week's league games, as shown by schedules at hand are: Tuesday, Rockport High at Newcastle; Wednesday, Vinalhaven High at Rockland, Thomaston High at Camden.
Saturday, Rockland High at Thomaston, Lincoln Academy at Vinalhaven.

St. George High is entertaining
Boothbay at Tenant's Harbor today.
Next week it plays Thursday in

ETHICS IN BUSINESS
Rotarian Hayden Declares
That Getting Money Isn't
All There Is To It

Rotarian Ralph H. Hayden was the speaker at yesterday's luncheon of Rockland Rotary, where he has long ago established his popularity, not only in the realm of speech but also as an exponent of the qualities upon which Rotary is founded. It was with some of these fundamentals that his present address dealt.

The men of America, he said, are awakening to what they ought to be about. They are lending the hand to a multiplicity of good movements that emphasize the physical side. He believed that the time is coming when there will be increasing attention to those spiritual forces which lie deep in the heart and of which a well-rounded Rotarian is the product. There are no great industries, vast as some of them are, that measure up to the greatness of the Christian church, the 650,000,000 men and women of which uphold the churches, hospitals, orphanages and other agencies of good throughout the world. It is an asset of goodwill, perpetual and enduring, held through the ages in the most spiritual of things.
The six essentials of Rotary, he said, are steadily growing among men. The Golden Rule is increasingly having recognition—and there is also the Silver Rule:

"Do not do anything to anyone that you would not like to have done to you."

A man, concluded the speaker, is not to address himself alone to making money. He must put ethics into his business. He must have faith, which is the substance of religion.
And every man has his religion. What it is he must himself demonstrate. It is by their works we know them.

The address was warmly applauded. A vote was passed in favor of next week's luncheon being a "poverty" affair, thereby creating a fund to help send the Boys' Band to Portland next week to take part with the State Federation of Music. At Friday's meeting Clarence E. Daniels is to tell his fellow-Rotarians, something of his recent journey around the world.

Visiting Rotarians present yesterday were Allen Curtis of Belfast, George Johnson, Waterville, Bert
Stevenson, Ralph Hayden, George
E. Allen, Camden, H. N. McDougall,
Portland; and guests were Frank A.
Winslow and Albert H. Winslow, Rockland, and George Hobbs, Portland.

WASGATT—LEACH

The medical staff of the Knox County General Hospital at its meeting this week by unanimous vote elected Dr. Rowland J.
Wasgatt of Rockland and Dr. C.
H. Leach of Tenant's Harbor to be associate members of the staff.
Dr. Wasgatt, graduate of Hahnemann, has a large range of practice throughout the county, and Dr. Leach has for some years covered the St. George field with success. The appointments will give satisfaction to a wide circle of patients of these two physicians. The directors of the hospital at a meeting yesterday unanimously confirmed the action of the medical staff.

Mrs. Anne Snow, who has been in Boston and Portland for many days in connection with American Legion Auxiliary work, arrived home Thursday. The Boston trip was the occasion of a visit to the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Bedford, Mass., the newest hospital of the kind in the United States, housing at the present time 350 World War veterans who are suffering chiefly from nervous shock.
The hospital is large, roomy and flooded with light. The auxiliary units of Massachusetts have provided many features, such as bowling alleys and other sports, furnishing the lounges which are particularly attractive with comfortable chairs, divans and couches and gay cretonne hangings. Several of these units also sponsor weekly entertainment of music or dancing. Mrs. Snow's particular object was to visit the occupational therapy department, with the idea of establishing such a department at the National Home in Torus. After the entire hospital had been viewed, luncheon was served in the nurses' dining room followed by a meeting of the rehabilitation committee of Area 4 (comprised of the New England States), representatives from all the New England States being present, as well as from the Veteran's Bureau, the Legion Auxiliaries, and several doctors in charge of veteran's hospitals in the New England states. In Portland Mrs. Snow attended a committee meeting.

Daniel Webster, who retired last year after 50 years' service in the express business, died Thursday at his home in Bangor. As superintendent of the Maine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia division he was a frequent visitor in this city.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

THE THINGS I MISS
An easy thing, O Power Divine,
To thank Thee for these gifts of thine!
For summer's sunshine, winter's snow,
For hearts that kindle, thoughts that glow,
But when shall I attain to this—
To thank Thee for the things I miss.
For all young Fancy's early dreams,
The dream of joys that still are dreams,
Hopes unfulfilled, and pleasures known
Through other's fortunes, not my own,
And blessings seen that are not given,
And never will be, this side of heaven.
Had I, too, shared the joys I see,
Would there have been a heaven for me?
Could I have felt thy presence near,
Had I possessed what I hold dear?
My deepest fortune, highest bliss,
Have gone per chance from things I miss.
Sometimes there comes an hour of calm;
Grief turns to blessing, pain to balm;
A power that works above my will Still leads me onward, upward still;
And then my heart attains to this—
To thank Thee for the things I miss.
—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK
CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Me., May 11, 1929.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declared that he is Pressman in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of May 9, 1929, there was printed a total of 6318 copies.
Before me, FRANK B. MILLER,
Notary Public

A new commandment I give unto you. That ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.—John 13:34, 35.

"MOTHER"

The tariff measure that will suit all sections of the country has never been framed, and the bill now pending in Congress will be greeted with protests aplenty before it is ready to receive President Hoover's signature. Down here in this end of Maine we get a goodly crumb of comfort from the fact that a duty is to be imposed on foreign cement, but in the northern part of the State there is an uprising because protection has not been afforded the potato industry.

In Los Angeles Tom Mix, the famous cowboy movie star has been indicted on the charge of falsifying income tax returns for a three year period when his earnings apparently averaged nearly $400,000 annually. It now remains to be seen whether this hero of the gallery gods can exonerate himself from Uncle Sam's clutches with the same ease that he escapes from the inlams and villains.

It is a very rare instance nowadays when you read of a piece of vessel property being sold at a profit, but there's the case of the towboat Scandinavia which brought only $7,500 at the U. S. Marshal auction, and was resold in New York for nearly ten times that amount. The Scandinavia, by the way, was formerly the property of the P. H. Doyen Co., which has had many dealings along this section of the coast.

Maine Senators are urging the appointment of Scott Wilson, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Maine, for appointment to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Maine has long enjoyed an enviable reputation for the ability of its judges and the desire to elevate her chief justice to the U. S. Circuit Court comes as a natural step.

The most interesting political rumorm of the week is to the effect that Robert Hale speaker of the House of Representatives, will seek the gubernatorial nomination in 1932, discarding a Senatorial seat as a stepping stone. Governorships have to be spoken for early, but 1932 does seem a long way off.

Associated Press despatches from California frequently tell us of the death of somebody who was a native or former resident of Maine. It strikes us that it would cost no more to say where in Maine, and the despatch would certainly have an added news value.

One day it's North Haven, the next day it's Englewood, N. J., and occasionally somebody suggests Paris. Will somebody kindly end the suspense and tell us just when and where the Lindbergh-Morrow wedding is to take place.

We are watching with interest that shoe factory thermometer in Belfast and find that on Wednesday the fund had increased to $66,500. Less than $10,000 more, and the metropolis of Waldo County will be assured of a permanent shoe industry.

ON MY SET

G. A. Harrison general agent of the Grand Trunk station, Portland, has my thanks for a booklet containing the Radio Program of the Canadian National Railways. My friend Washburn, a Portland druggist has also been so kind as to send me the April edition of Radio Index, "The Tuning Book," and because he doubtless thinks that static is bringing gray hairs to my head he sends me "Dr. Rockwell's Mustard Plaster" for April. It might not be able to drive away static, but it can certainly knock the starch out of the blues.

New York City, with 23 stations, has more broadcasting facilities than ten of the states combined, according to The Associated Press. Chicago presses New York closely with 21 stations. California leads the States with 46 stations, New York being second with 45.

Tuesday night's reception was hardly to my liking. It was erratic in tone, and truth to tell, I have heard better programs.

Phil Paddon, an English experimenter, has a grievance against WGY and "Big Ben." Paddon lives at East Lodge, Holmwood, Surrey, 25 miles from London. He receives the short wave signals of WGY regularly, and invited some of his friends who had never heard the United States to listen to W2XAF. After tuning in and listening to music he broke in with the remark: "Listen, you will now hear them announce 7 o'clock over there and it is midnight here." But to Paddon's surprise, what they heard was Big Ben of London striking midnight, and Big Ben is only 25 miles away. The radio host tried to explain to his friends that he was actually getting the American station, but it was re-broadcasting the B.B.C. short wave station and that they were the tones of Big Ben after they crossed and recrossed the Atlantic.

The fortunes of the Boston Braves and the Red Sox are being followed by many scores of Rockland fans these days, thanks to the daily broadcasts over WNAC.

Listeners tuned to WGY, May 2, heard a running description of a fight between two lightweights, Stewart and Walker by name. The fight took place in London and WGY got the broadcast through GSW, the short wave station of the British Broadcasting Company at Cleveford. WGY carried the fight from 6:30 to 7:00 o'clock and during that period the last five rounds of the fifteen round fight were heard. The announcer referred to "intervals" instead of rounds and at the end of each round announced "the ten of an interval." The crowd noise was most pronounced, and the ringside spectators could be heard urging their favorites to commit all kinds of damage.

Canadian stations were busy late last night, CNRA of Montreal and CKGW of Toronto being especially good. Other stations which I logged in a brief late session included WLS, KDKA, KYW, WOWO and WCAM.

Many Rockland fans will tune in on WGSN at quarter of 6 this afternoon to hear Mayor Carver's broadcast.

POSTOFFICE CHAT

Patrons of the Rockland office are mailing letters to make the return trip across the Atlantic on the Graf Zeppelin. The fee will be $1.05 for a one ounce letter and 55 cents for each post card.

In 1918, a customer bought a sheet of 100 of the 24-cent air mail stamps at the Philadelphia postoffice. These stamps were to be regular, the airplane forming the center of the design was printed upside down and this error made these stamps valuable to collectors. At a recent New York auction one copy of this stamp sold for $1500.

For the week ending May 5, these pieces of undelivered foreign mail were listed at this office: Waldo Carlson, No. 22 Lisle street, (removed); Mrs. Fryborg Anderson, No. 15 Summer street, (removed).

John H. Flanagan, superintendent of mails, is off duty this week after meeting with an unusual accident Monday night while cranking his automobile.

There are rumors about the postoffice of a brown wedding but the date has not been set. One of the letter carrier force is the victim slated.

The summer mail schedule will be put in effect next month. It is reported that the morning train will arrive at the station at 7:40.

E. B. Sansom, mailing division, believes that the fish bite best on rainy days, so he took a day of his vacation and motored to Salmon Lake to try his luck. Upon his return he reported that the lake is not properly named, inasmuch as that he rowed up the lake four miles and was obliged to walk back without a fish.

The meeting of Edwin Libby Relief Corps Thursday evening was one of the banner good times of that organization, there being an unusually large attendance at both supper and the evening session. The old-fashioned supper, featuring in addition to beans and brown bread such old-time favorites as gingerbread, molasses doughnuts, mince pie and pumpkin pie, called forth much approval. Nearly all the members appeared in old-fashioned costume, many of the gowns dating back prior to 1870. The entertainment featured selections by the Corps choir, a reading by Miss Etta Blackington, and a vocal solo by little Miss Ruth Harper, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Frank Harper.

Milligan of Rockland and Pearson of Portland Battling For State Candlepin Championship

The State candlepin championship is the title at stake in the 10-string match which will be bowled in Portland tonight by Ralph Pearson of that city, who is the present champion; and William H. Milligan of Rockland, who is a contender for the title. Milligan goes into tonight's contest 18 pins to the good, as the result of the first 10-string match which was bowled at Carr's alleys Thursday night. This lead would have been very much larger, but in the last string Milligan suffered a lapse and chalked up his only poor string of the evening.

This slender margin serves to make Pearson the favorite to win the match, but Milligan is a stayer, and his friends are hoping against hope that he will make a sufficient total tonight to bring him the coveted title.

Milligan faced a serious handicap Thursday night when the Portland Star captured the first string by a margin of 24 pins.

The second string was Milligan's by two pins, and the third by 10 pins. Thus encouraged he exercised all of the skill at his command, and the fourth string saw him jump into the lead with the best score of the entire match. At the end of the half the Rockland man was 39 points to the good. He increased this to 46 on the sixth string, but of the remaining

GOOD BOXING SHOW

Newcomers Display Their Wares—Young Sukeforth Battles Buffalo Kid To a Speedy Defeat

New talent—new to Rockland, at least—was imported for last night's sparring exhibition in Spear's hall, and a series of lusty bouts attested to the fact that the boxers were doing their best to please the fans. The only knockout was administered by a local boxer—Young Sukeforth, who displayed power and aggression that surprised even those admirers who were most familiar with his ability. The curtain was raised by Jimmy Sawyer of Sanford and Flash Dutil of Lewiston. The Sanford boy was a two-fisted youth, and had the better of the contest, but his ferocious attacks failed to sweep Dutil off his pins.

Another boy who could hit hard with both fists was Johnny Napier of Portland. He furnished lively entertainment for Mark Kelly of Boston. Neither man was downed, and they appeared to be in equally good condition when the bout ended.

Young Sukeforth, who was matched against Buffalo Kid of Sanford, made short work of his job. The Sanford man was floored three times in two minutes. Each of the first three appeared to be a knockout, but the Buffalo Kid recovered surprisingly before Referee Saville's arm descended for the tenth count. The fourth time he had received a stunning blow on the back of the neck, and the fight was over. Most of the fans regarded it as the best showing the local boy has yet made.

The semi-final bout introduced two boxers of widely different types. One was Johnny Bagley of Sanford, who had both speed and punch, and the other was Al Nolette of Lewiston, a very deliberate boxer who seemed content to await an opportunity for landing the punch that would end the fight very suddenly. He took plenty of punishment, but seemed neither to mind it or avoid it. Both boxers were on their feet all through the contest.

At this juncture in the proceedings Referee Saville announced that Mack Kelly had challenged Jimmy Bagley. The challenge was promptly accepted. Matty Owen, the colored flash, with a remarkably successful record, needed all of his phenomenal speed last night to escape the terrific assaults launched by Cannonball Cote of Lewiston, a grizzled, cauliflowerered veteran of many battles. He derives his title from his faculty of curling into a ball shaped mass of flesh and muscle, and springing upon his opponent with a speed that taxed the eyesight. The colored lad did comparatively little of the leading, and landed few counters, but at no stage of the proceedings did he appear to be in distress.

Mrs. Nell Ryan Barker ("Mother") and Miss Alice Flanagan ("Button Up Your Overcoat").

The chorus work was particularly good, the young singers displaying sweet tuneful voices and singing with a spirit and "go" that lent things moving snappily. In the chorus were Mary Bickford, Madelyn Coffey, Catherine Burke, Alice Cassidy Helen Delano, Alice Flanagan, Anita Gatti, Mary LaCrosse, Angelina Mazzeo, Teresa Mazzeo, Marguerite Haskell, Joan Moulaison, Mildred Sweeney, Anna Winchenbach, John Accardi, Albert Cassidy, Arthur Flanagan, Natalie Mazzeo, John Mazzeo, John LaCrosse and Leo Winchenbach.

The committees in charge who worked untiringly to make the affair a success were: Scenic and lighting effects, Ralph Tardiff and Raymond Moulaison; tickets, Misses Marie Dorgan, Joanna Patterson, Emma Dorgan and Louise Harrington; program, William Sullivan and Mr. Moulaison.

CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Believe What Christ Said

"Let not your heart be troubled; Ye believe in God, believe also in me."

Not alone do skeptical scientists and modern philosophers cast doubt on the belief in God and hold His word up as a collection of fables containing some truth; but some of the gravest questions concerning faith in Him at all, are raised in our colleges and theological schools, and by the ministry they have trained and sent out. Ministers instead of preaching Christ, redemption, or personal salvation from sin, ask—"Can the modern mind retain God? Can I believe in God the Father? Can I believe in a personal God? Can prayer ever hope for an answer from God?" Ministers who are skeptical ought to choose some other occupation than throwing doubt into those who otherwise would believe.

There never was a Jonah swallowed by a whale? Christ said: "For as Jonah was three days and nights in the whale's belly, so shall the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." He scoffed at their unbelief and said, "A greater than Jonah is here." Can we believe in God the Father? Christ did, and said, "After this manner pray ye, Our Father, who art in Heaven." Can prayer hope for answer? No? Then Christ mocked the world when he taught it to pray. Does science declare that there is no rational life save on this globe? Remember, Christ said, "In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you."

BUSY FARM GIRLS

Millinery Training and Home Demonstration Meetings

Eight communities, four each in Knox and Lincoln counties sent representatives to the millinery training classes in Damariscotta and Camden. Fifteen women went to learn how to make hats and ten hats were made. The most popular model was the one with satin crown and straw brim. If straw could not be obtained the whole hat was of silk or perhaps the brim. One white felt sports hat was made using the jersey hat pattern. It could not be told from a commercially made hat. One tan and one straw and felt hat were made. It was easily shown that the patterns were adaptable to more than one kind of material.

For the fifth year the Alma Girls Club has organized. The officers are: President, Gladys Hall; secretary, Helen Carleton; treasurer, Phyllis Damon; and social chairman, Marion Palmer. The leader is Velma Jewett and assistant leader is Helen Carleton. This, the only entire cooking and housekeeping club in the county has done excellent work since it was organized. The girls have planned for the year, a very good program. At nearly every meeting some article of food is to be purchased and served correctly. One bread demonstration team is being planned for this year, too.

Seven girls in the town of Hope have organized their club for the second year with Mrs. Everett Hobbs as leader. The program for the year has been sent in and the girls have done well with their sewing. They are making club uniforms this year and all but one is completed already. The home demonstration agent saw one of the girls wearing hers and it was very well made.

These home demonstration meetings are scheduled:

NORTH HOPE

Congratulations are being extended the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. James Pease of Rockland. They are at the present staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pease and James drives to and from his work in Rockland. Mrs. Pease was Miss Athleen McConchie of Rockland. They have the best wishes of many friends here for a happy wedded life.

Mrs. W. E. Hall went to Camden Wednesday to keep house for her daughter Mrs. Jennie Phillips. Returning Friday she will bring her grandchildren home for the weekend. Mrs. Phillips will make a visit to friends in Auburn and Lewiston meanwhile.

Farmers here are getting ground ready for crops as fast as possible between showers and rain storms. The last one was a road wrecker. Right here is a question for every Hope taxpayer to think over and weigh well. The hill known as Turn Hill just above Willow Brook, is a complete wreck, as everyone knows who has traveled over it. It will take untold loads of gravel to make it even possible, costing many dollars only to be washed down into the pasture below by the next rain, as has been the case every year. And look at the road today, after all these years of toll and money expended on it. How much better and cheaper eventually to begin at this end of the Hope and Appleton line and build a permanent road up over the hill, with good causeways and ditches to take care of the surplus water that always deluges this section of the road, from springs enroute and above. It would be a bit of good judgment and a saving of our tax money, a help to the traveling public, and general satisfaction all around to make a permanent road and save unnecessary expense.

Tuesday, May 7—Rain again, but some warmer. Nothing planted yet here at Willow Brook except a few "clads" and some flower seeds. The crop land is all ready but rain is suspending operations. It is reported that J. D. Pease has some peas, corn, etc., in the ground, but he always gains a lap on all his neighbors. Raises fine Peas-e too, of an excellent variety.

Mrs. A. I. Pery is still very busy mailing dila orders due in part to the ads in the good home paper. Ever try one? It's quite exciting to have the orders come in from all parts of the State, and other states as well, showing the wide distribution of the paper and how extensively read. Then, too, the fine line of tubers which she sends with extra ones in each order make new friends every time. Call at the Willow Brook Farm and take advantage of extra low prices where there is no postage to pay; or phone West Appleton 11-4.

Correction: Mrs. Alice Hall of Appleton is at the St. Barnabas Hospital, Portland, instead of the Maine General, as reported last week.

GEORGE T. ALLEN

Death of Thomaston Man Who Had Adventured In Many Lands

With the death of George T. Allen, former chief engineer of the State Prison, there passed from Thomaston affairs the other day a man whose varied career constituted a story of adventure.

Mr. Allen was a native of Lowell, Mass. and after serving a brief apprenticeship in his father's machine shop yielded to the lure of the sea, and enlisted as donkeyman on the Boston steamship Santiago, bound on a cruise to Valparaiso, Chile.

On the return voyage the Santiago loaded copper at Valparaiso, and completed her cargo with hides in Montevideo and coffee in Rio Janeiro. Part of the cargo was discharged in New York, and the ship then proceeded to Liverpool.

After waiting three months in Liverpool for a charter, the Santiago left for Australia with 500 passengers. A cargo of wool was brought back from Australia, but when the Santiago reached Liverpool Mr. Allen transferred to the steamship Chimberazo and found himself again headed for Australia, this time with 800 persons on the passenger list. He was fourth engineer when the ship reached Adelaide, but becoming peeved at an unjust accusation from the chief engineer he verbally consigned the latter to the torrid regions, went ashore, equipped himself with a swag and billet, and started on a 500-mile hike to Sydney.

It was the dry season and the roads were six inches deep with dust. The country was infested with venomous snakes, and so great was the menace that placards were conspicuously posted all along the highway informing the unwary pedestrian how to cure snake bites.

He fell in with a youth who had deserted from a steamer to join in the gold rush. Mr. Allen half carried the boy through a long stretch of bush and landed him at a coal mine, where their arrival was hailed with surprised exclamations on the part of the workmen.

They told the pedestrians that a collier was due there in a few days. When it arrived Mr. Allen offered to work a passage for both. The ship was in need of a fireman and the offer was accepted. The boy was placed in a hospital and Mr. Allen was lucky enough to fall in with an acquaintance who staked him to a sovereign.

At Circular Key Mr. Allen fell in with a chief officer named Williams, with whom he had been shipmate on the Santiago. They shipped for China, but bumped into a rock in Torres Straits off the coast of Australia, and punched a big hole in the bow.

Back in London Mr. Allen shipped on a freight steamer, the first craft of that type he had ever worked on, and started once more for China, around the Cape of Good Hope.

One thousand miles north of Madagascar, in the Indian Ocean, the ship caught fire. Holes were bored through the decks to admit the lines of hose, but Mr. Allen protested against lifting the hatches because he knew that it would make a chimney for the fire. But his words went unheeded, and when the crew started to knock the dogs off the hatches blew off, and all in a minute the ship became a living hell. This was just after a monsoon, and the weather had left a heavy swell on the sea. The captain and Mr. Allen were the last to leave the doomed ship.

Mr. Allen was in the open lifeboat seven days and 20 hours. There were 11 men in the boat and very little drinking water at the start. Mr. Allen spread canvas to protect some ham fat from the sun, foreseeing the great necessity for conserving every ounce of the meagre supplies.

On the third day one of the men leaped overboard to end his misery. He had been drinking sea water. Another who had been unable to resist the temptation of drinking the briny liquid lay in the bottom of the boat, a raving maniac.

As the situation grew more desperate—as the pangs of hunger were added to the torture of thirst—there were threats of cannibalism and talk of drawing lots to see which man should be sacrificed to save the lives of the others.

"If there is any more talk of this kind, shoot the man who makes it," the chief told Mr. Allen.

The men continued to mutter, but took pains that their words should not be audible to either the chief or Mr. Allen.

How it would have all ended is impossible to say, but Nature intervened at this juncture, and out of the skies suddenly came one of those torrential downpours, typical of the tropics. The shower was of brief duration but it left pools of water in the bottom of the boat, and the men drank from these so as to save what had fallen into the brakes.

When hope had well nigh vanished the lifeboat was picked up by a small bark, bound for Penang, China, and for the third time in his career Mr. Allen found himself bound for the country which he was never destined to behold.

The scene now shifts to Valparaiso where Mr. Allen, sent ashore on an errand left a man in the small boat with specific instructions as to what to do to the engine. The man got intoxicated and disregarded orders. Mr. Allen lost his head for the first time that he could remember, beat the man up, and then in a fit of penitence made his way to the top of one of the mountains where he stayed over night.

He felt too much ashamed to go back to the steamer, and being fortunate enough to run across an acquaintance from his home town sent a job to help assemble locomotives got from North America. One day a Pacific mail steamer came in, and upon learning that an engineer had died on the passage Mr. Allen secured the job, thus made vacant, and headed for England, where he was once more found on board the Chimberazo bound for Australia with a large passenger list.

A tidal wave struck the craft while it was crossing the Channel and five men were lost overboard.

The ship put about and went into Plymouth where Mr. Allen transferred to the steamer Cusco, and resumed his voyage to Australia.

"The Champion Jonah" continued to run true to form. Coming through "The Black Stairs" on her voyage from Melbourne to Sydney, the Cusco ran into a bold precipice. The telegraph said "full speed astern," and the soundings showed 40 fathoms of water aft. The steampship began to settle forward till her propeller came out of water but the forward bulkhead kept her afloat.

Mr. Allen and the third officer started for Sydney, 150 miles away, after help, making the trip in a steam launch towing a dinghy filled with coal and food. They had covered only a portion of the distance when a collier hove in sight, and conveyed them into Sydney. Two pleasure steamers were sent for the castaways who had meantime taken spars, canvas and food ashore, and after clearing the place of snakes, proceeded to have Mr. Allen terms "a grand picnic" for a week.

At Sydney there was no drydock which would hold the damaged steamer, so a gully was blasted to the proper width, locks were built to hold the water and man's ingenuity had solved the problem. Mr. Allen worked in this improvised drydock three months, and then returned to England.

It was during the period of the Zulu war that Mr. Allen got a job on the steamship France, which, as he had understood it was to be turned into a hospital boat. She blew out 125 boiler tubes in the first three days of her passage down.

When Natal was reached the troops left the steamer, which was ordered around to Cape Town and finally home. The crew refused to sail in the craft, however, on the ground that the boilers were unserviceable.

Eight of the men Mr. Allen included, were jailed in one room, and kept on bread and water three days. Mr. Allen felt that the humor of the situation had worn off by this time, and demanded an inspection of the boilers. When they were found to be as rotten as the men had claimed the officers lost no time in bringing about the crew's freedom. The captain wanted to compromise, but the crew signed clear.

Mr. Allen thought favorably of going to the diamond mines, but his companion quit on the third day, and Mr. Allen himself finally headed for Cape Town.

Seven years of seafaring, into which had been crowded more adventures than falls to the lot of the average mariner in a life time, proved enough for Mr. Allen.

During the 19 years which ensued after he left the sea Mr. Allen was employed in a Cambridge, Mass. confectionery establishment. For seven years he was located on the Cheney farm in Belfast, then three years on a Cushing farm before he joined the staff at the State Prison.

Friends knew him as a genial, jovial citizen, and as such he will be missed by many.

Beaten by 22 pins in the 1st string, things looked pretty black for the put-put boys, but they came back to their feet and won the match by a 2-1 tie, when they bolted off the tie which has held them together in 1st place and then old salts from the briny weathered the storm in fine shape.

Mrs. Lefebure Says:—"I Certainly Don't Regret Taking Bon-Tone, for It Has Brought Back My Health"

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Lefebure

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Lefebure of 424 Lisbon street, Lewiston, Me., says:—"For the past two years I suffered agony with my stomach, as gas would always form after a meal and would press up around my heart and often I felt as though it would smother me. I had dizzy spells so bad that I was afraid to stoop over for fear of falling, nights I couldn't sleep at all and on getting up in the morning I felt as tired as if I hadn't gone to bed at all. My appetite was poor and I had very little ambition to do anything. Since taking Bon-Tone, however, I feel so much better that I can't praise this medicine enough for the wonderful results I have gotten from it. I can eat all and everything that is set before me and enjoy every bit of it, as my food digests right now, without formation of gas, or any discomfort whatsoever. Dizzy spells are a thing of the past. I sleep soundly the whole night through and at up in the morning feeling rested and refreshed and like doing a day's work. Altogether I feel 100% better than I have in years, and shall always praise Bon-Tone for the wonderful medicine that it is."

GETHEMSENE CYPRESS
Knox Arboretum Has Received a Fine Specimen From California

Jesse A. Tolman, vice president of Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences has received the following reply from a letter directed to the Division of Forestry in California:

"Reference is made to your letter of recent date, in which you make inquiry regarding the Gethsemane cypress trees which we have at the State Nursery, notice of which you saw in the Pacific Rural Press: The State Nurseryman recommends that these trees, which have been secured from the University of California, be kept for another year at the nursery until their growth is established. If you will write me regarding same about the first of next November, I will gladly forward a tree to you, if there are still some in stock."

"Forest Worker" had this to say about seedlings from the historic Gethsemane cypress trees:

"While visiting in the Holy Land in the summer of 1924 Ansel Hall, of the National Park Service, noticed that some of the cypress trees in the Garden of Gethsemane had a good crop of cones. Finding the seed to be of good quality he collected a number of cones and carefully brought them back with him to California. The seed were sown by Woodbridge Metcalf at the forest nursery of the University of California in Berkeley. With careful attention about 300 germinated and grew into sturdy seedlings, which at the end of the growing season averaged 2 to 3 inches in height. Half the seedlings were placed in a transplant row on the Berkeley campus and the others were sent to the State forest nursery at Davis, where they were planted in pots. By the winter of 1926-27 the trees at Davis were 8 to 12 inches high. The trees are now growing in churchyards and public grounds in many parts of California and elsewhere and reports are being received of their satisfactory growth in many situations. One planted on the grounds of the Congregational church at Paso Robles at Christmas 1926, made a growth of more than 20 inches in height during the following year and is now 40 inches tall."

Knox Arboretum has secured a fine specimen of these, through the courtesy of the Forestry Division of California. It will be transplanted there at an early date.

WHAT'S "RED CROSS?"

A Wonderful Institution Is Here Given a Concise Definition

The display window of the Red Cross office has been decorated for the Community Chest Drive with articles from the National Headquarters, effectively arranged by Clifton Crose of the Corner Drug store, and the idea is also attractively fostered by window decorations, in the form of first aid panels, at Manager Pooler's Corner Drug Store and Manager Edridge's Rockland Pharmacy Inc., at the corner of Park and Main streets.

What is the Red Cross? Now and then you hear this question, and while you know in a general way that it is a powerful agency for the relief of want and distress, responding promptly and vigorously to every call for assistance, you do not know how to answer the question fully. The following tells the story:

The Red Cross is a voluntary international organization founded primarily for the care of the sick, wounded and prisoners in time of war. The war work of the national Red Cross Societies is coordinated by the International Committee of the Red Cross which was founded Feb. 9, 1862, in Geneva and has its permanent headquarters in that city. The International Red Cross might be said to have been founded Aug. 22, 1864, when 12 nations signed the Treaty of Geneva, although treaty ratifications were not exchanged until June 22, 1865.

Activities of the Red Cross today extend far beyond operations in time of war, their scope embracing the relief of human suffering in all its various forms and wherever it may be encountered. Acceptance by the Red Cross Societies of the wider responsibility dates from 1919 when, on the initiative of Henry P. Davison, chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross, the Red Cross Societies of France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan and the United States founded the League of Red Cross Societies with permanent headquarters in Paris. Today 50 independent national Societies are members of the League, while Red Cross organizations exist in 61 different countries. Membership in the League is wholly voluntary. The League has no political, racial or religious taints. Its purpose is the development of the Red Cross movement as an asset to humanity, the intensification of Red Cross activity, and the provision of facilities for increased cooperation of Red Cross Societies with each other and with other organizations pursuing similar aims. Red Cross peace-time activity has been of immeasurable value in the organization of disaster relief, the development of health programs, the extension of nursing activities, and the organization of active Junior Red Cross sections.

The first military nursing order sprang into existence during the first crusade when the Knights Hospitaliers of St. John of Jerusalem, of which order branches still exist, were founded in 1072 upon the capture of Jerusalem. This order was organized on the structure of a previous one existing in Jerusalem. The cross, in some shape and color, always appeared upon the standards of this order, which included women also, and which ministered to Muslims as well as Christians.

Now that the faces of some vandeville sinners have been lifted, is there any way to have their voices lowered? —New York Times

MOVIES

"Kid Gloves," a talking picture with Conrad Nagel is now showing.

America's sweetheart has forsaken curls and rag dolls. Which of course is another way to say that Mary Pickford has grown up. All this she has done and more, to portray the central and dominant figure of the well remembered stage success, "Coquette," which comes for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is an all-talking picture, which means, of course, that audiences everywhere will at last have the opportunity to hear Mary Pickford in the dialogue role of the beautiful, flirtatious Norma; the role made famous by Helen Hayes in the original production. Possessing a low pitched, delightfully musical voice, Miss Pickford again takes her place on the high firmament of things theatrical, through the medium of the audible screen.

Miss Pickford has surrounded herself with an exceptionally talented cast. The leading male role, that of the hardened, lumbering Michael, the boy who brings love and tragedy into Norma's life, is played with telling effect by Johnny Mack Brown, whose rise to stardom has been the talk of Hollywood. When one recalls the Michael of Elliot Cobot in the original play, a performance that critics praised to the skies, it affords pleasure to join in the plaudits for Mr. Brown whose work too, has been greeted with praise everywhere. The stern, unrelenting father whose near-sighted vision brings tragedy into the lives of those he loves best in all the world is capably enacted by John Sainpolis. Others in the cast who perform creditably are Matt Moore and William Janney. "Coquette," was directed by Sam Taylor.—adv.

PARK THEATRE

"Tenderloin" featuring Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel will be the feature attraction this afternoon and evening. It is a singing and talking picture.

Monday and Tuesday Alice White will appear in her first talking picture "Hot Stuff" which deals with the adventures of a gay group of college students, and particularly of a boy and a girl who pretend they are worse than they really are. It provides a pretty romance, with plenty of college atmosphere as a background, and gives Miss White a role ideally suited to her screen talents. The cast includes William Bakewell who plays opposite the star, and Louise Fazenda has the leading comedy role.—adv.

MRS. PHILIP ULMER

Mrs. Carrie Brown Ulmer of St. Paul, Minn., wife of Philip Ulmer died at her home April 2 and was buried the following Monday from the church at Simonton, Maine. She was born at Simonton's Corner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, where she lived until her marriage to Mr. Ulmer. They then went to make their home in St. Paul where Mr. Ulmer has been a prominent business man for more than 40 years.

Mrs. Ulmer loved her home, was always happy and cheerful and is now mourned by a large circle of friends. She is survived by her husband and one brother. The beautiful flowers from St. Paul, the Community Club and friends at Simonton were silent testimonials of the love and high regard of her friends.

TENANT'S HARBOR

The Christian Endeavor Society of Seaside Baptist Church has accepted an invitation from the C. E. of Rockland to visit them next Sunday evening and take charge of the service. Miss Emily Morris will be the leader, and a musical program is being prepared. Transportation has been arranged via the Port Clyde bus and several private cars. The visitors will remain to the regular Sunday evening service, conducted by Rev. J. Charles MacDonald.

Last week there was a record attendance at our Sunday school 83 being present, and with the combined efforts of the scholars and teachers, it is hoped to be able to reach the 100 mark next Sunday, "Mother's Day." Rev. Mr. Barton, our newly-elected pastor, began his work here last Sunday, with a large congregation present at both morning and evening services. The Lord's supper was observed in the morning, and three delegates were elected to attend the annual meeting of the Lincoln Baptist Association held in Warren last Tuesday. Mrs. Tena Earler, Miss Fannie Long and Deacon H. F. Kallach being chosen. The pastor's wife and family have been visiting in Bangor while awaiting the arrival of their household goods and Mr. Barton has been entertained at the home of Deacon Sewall Wall.

Clarence Thompson made a trip to Somerville, Mass., the first of the week to transport the household goods of W. C. Comstock who has rented the Otho Hatch house on Broadway, Rockland, located near his business on Park street, known as Comstock's Market (nation-wide service).

We are now serving every day delicious Waffles and Pure Maple Syrup, at the Myrtle Street Lunch Room, Myrtle street.—adv. 56-60

"She couldn't believe they weren't new"

"When my sister-in-law was outfitting her new home five years ago, we found such a wonderful pair of blankets that I couldn't resist buying a pair for myself.

"Visiting us last summer she saw me putting that very same pair of blankets away and accused me of duplicating our bargain without telling her. She couldn't believe they weren't new! Hers, she said, had faded terribly and become harsh and thin.

"But I told her I find Lux as wonderful for blankets as for sheer things... Lux keeps all my woollens thick and soft and unshrunk just like new year after year."

FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Eminent Men To Support Laboratory At Bar Harbor

Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, Richard H. Wehrer of Detroit, Mrs. Wehrer and Mrs. Roscoe B. Jackson, widow of the former president of the Hudson Motor Company, are the donors of the fund for the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Foundation Laboratory for cancer research to be established at Bar Harbor, under the direction of Dr. Clarence Cook Little, who is resigning as president of the University of Michigan. The fund is being given by George B. Dorr.

These donors have been giving $45,000 annually to the University of Michigan with an understanding that if Dr. Little should resign the gifts would cease. Associated with Dr. Little will be a number of eminent research workers in cancer, and the disease will be investigated from the standpoint of the biologist rather than that of the physician. Heredity and the laws of growth will be studied in an effort to learn the causes.
